Plans for Defense Bond Campaign are Outlined at Meeting

Talk on Advantages of Defense Savings Given Before 35 Business People

Plans for launching a general defense savings stamps and bonds campaign in Antioch township were considered at a meeting of 35 business men and women Friday evening in Antioch Grade school.

Otto S. Klass, chairman of the Antioch township section of the Lake County Defense Savings Committee, presided.

William M. Weber, president of the Lake Villa Trust and Savings bank and Kenneth Hart, cashier, were the speakers. They outlined the advantages of defense savings stamps and bonds as investments.

Robert King, George Wagner, Herman Holbeck and Cleus Vos have been appointed as a committee to assist Klass in continuing plans for the drive. Identification cards will be carried by committee workers.

Have Had Good Sales

Sales of defense stamps have been carried on at both Antioch Grade school and Antioch High school for some time, and the response has been excellent. There has been a considerable demand for defense bonds and stamps at the post office, Postmaster Knafk states. The State Bank of Antioch and the First National bank have both reported that a great deal of interest has been shown in the purchase of defense bonds.

Plans at Friday evening's meeting would make it possible for employees to purchase defense bonds and stamps on an "installment plan," with a certain sum being set aside from each pay check for this purpose.

This plan, of course, will be purely voluntary, Klass states.

Dibble Tavern Business Bought By Cicero Man

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Borovicka, formerly of Cicero, today took over the management of the tavern operated during the past few years by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dibble, from whom they have purchased the business and good will.

Mr. Borovicka is the father of George Borovicka, recently co-purchaser of Reeves' drug store.

Mr. Borovicka, Sr., stated, "I have for a long time been interested in locating in this region, and now that my son is here, my wife and I are very happy to have this opportunity of being here also."

For many years Mr. Borovicka was associated with the Fabst company, and was at one time manager of the Riverside branch.

Summer residents of the Antioch region were among the many patrons of the tavern business he operated in Cicero of recent years. He has been a resident of Cicero for the past 20 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Dibble left Wednesday evening for McHenry, where they own a home.

NAMES OF BOYS IN SERVICE ARE OMITTED THIS WEEK

The Antioch Legion Post 748, and the Antioch News appreciate the splendid co-operation that has been given in furnishing the addresses of "Our Boys in Service."

Due to military censorship it may become necessary to discontinue the publishing of the names and addresses of men in service, and until further notice the names will be omitted. In the future those who may wish the address of any boy in service can get same from the Antioch News mailing list or Antioch Legion address file.

Copies of the News will be sent weekly to boys in service and any new address or change in address should be sent to the Antioch News or the Adjutant of Antioch Legion Post.

Navy Lieutenant

MARSHAL ORDERED TO CLAMP DOWN ON RECKLESS DRIVERS

Reckless driving in Antioch, especially on the part of drivers of big trucks must cease, and that goes for every one who operates a car.

That was the decision of the village board of trustees at the March session held Tuesday night, and Village Marshal William Thieman was instructed to take steps immediately toward that end by stopping all trucks and warning drivers to "take it easy" through Antioch.

Later, if any one is arrested for speed violation, the board said, there will be no "fixing," but pressure of the severest kind be brought to bear to give violators "the works."

And that isn't all. Other forms of violations came in for criticism, such as parking alongside fireplugs, alley parking, and all other forms of traffic violations.

There have been many minor accidents in the village, to say nothing of the narrow escapes that might easily have meant serious injury or death. It's time to stop recklessness now, board members say. The safety program outlined indicates that they mean business.

Antioch Water Safe

Antioch water is safe to drink, according to the report received yesterday from the Sanitary Engineering Laboratories of the Department of Public Health at Springfield.

The samples collected several days ago were taken from hydrants at the pumping station and from the grade and high school.

"These analyses show that the water being pumped into the distribution system was safe to drink," stated the report signed by Clarence W. Klassen, chief sanitary engineer.

Judges May Retire on Lifetime Pension

Here's the authority for the statement that Judge Persons could retire and have a substantial income for the remainder of his life.

From Illinois Revised Statutes, 1941.

JUDGES RETIREMENT

AN ACT in relation to the retirement and pensioning of judges of courts of record in Illinois.

Chapter 440, Section 1. Be it enacted by the people of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly: That any judge of a court of record in the State of Illinois, whether of the Supreme, Circuit, Superior, Probate, County, City or Municipal Court, who has served as a judge in any one or more of said courts for a period or periods aggregating twenty-four (24) years, shall, when he reaches the age of sixty-five (65) years, and shall by resignation or otherwise have ended such service, shall, after such service of twenty-four (24) years, and after reaching the age of sixty-five (65) years, be entitled to and shall receive annually a pension during the remainder of his life for a sum equal in amount to one-half (1/2) the sum annually received as compensation for his judicial service during the last year thereof.

Since Judge Persons' salary is $6,000, upon his retirement he would receive $3,000 per year paid by the State of Illinois as pension for the remainder of his life. That ought to put the judge in a fair position to enjoy one of the "four freedoms" one hears about these days—freedom from want.

Should Lake County Voters Favor Judge Persons With 9th Term on County Bench?

Veteran Jurist Could Have Retired on Pension in 1939

NEWS SCANS OFFICIAL ACTS

Should Judge Perry L. Persons, veteran county judge and dean of all Lake county office holders, be returned to office for a ninth term after thirty years in office, or should he, after 32 years in office, doff his judicial robe, accept the pension of $3000 per year, provided by the State of Illinois, to which he has been eligible since 1939, and retire? These are questions to be answered by the voters at the Republican primary election on April 14.

Lake county has been kind to Judge Persons. Eight times he has asked and has received the endorsement of the county electorate. It is the lot of but few men to attain the impressive service record as has Judge Persons. Now for the ninth time he asks the voters for preferment at the polls in the forthcoming election.

The county judge is regarded among his friends and acquaintances as an outstanding example of personal rectitude and integrity. He has been a stalwart in lodge and religious circles for over three decades. Moreover, he has been one of "the faithful" at social gatherings and church dinners, lending aid and support to scores of worthy causes during his career as county judge. All of which is good citizenship, good business and good politics. . . . It is the conviction of the judge's friends that his personal record is spotless, and this opinion is shared by the News.

It is his official record that must determine his right to continue in office—the recorded record that is little known to the great majority of laymen—the common citizens who are not lawyers and who have not, and can not come into contact with all of the various matters coming under the court's jurisdiction. The recorded proceedings alone reveal these facts, and even these are subject to such interpretation as would seem best to fit the occasion.

Excellent Background

Many Lake county residents have never known a county judge other than Perry L. Persons, for many of them have been born and reared to voting age during the incumbent's tenure of office. Linked together for 32 years, the name Perry L. Persons and the county judgeship have become almost a tradition.

Local history reveals that Judge Persons was born in 1874 on a farm near Wadsworth and that he lived there and near Gurnee until he moved to Waukegan which since has been his home.

Admitted to practice of law in 1897, he served the city of Waukegan as police magistrate and as city attorney. In 1910 he was elected county judge, in which office, so states campaign advertising of later years, "he served the people of Lake county conscientiously and acceptably." The same campaign literature also modestly admits that "his ability as a jurist and his work in the county court are known throughout Illinois. His sympathy for the insane and his fatherly interest in dependent and delinquent children whom he tries to aid are known to and appreciated by everyone with whom the court has come in contact."

In a statement signed by Earl E. Swannburg, Laurence E. Biddinger and E. Earl Welton, who were designated as the "committee on publicity" in the 1934 campaign, this statement appears: "Our people are fortunate in his (Judge Persons') willingness to stand for re-election for the ensuing four-year term."

Sticklers for logic would construe from the foregoing statement that the then impending four-year term was literally being forced upon the judge against his will. But he did "accept" the four-year term and another one besides at the next election in 1938.

Thus it is revealed that Judge Persons, veteran of eight campaigns, has possessed the political shrewdness and the good fortune to secure the services of important persons to serve on his "campaign committees" and who over their own signatures have sponsored campaign utterances that the judge evidently was too modest to voice.

Persons in Bootleg Era

For term after term during the early years of his judgeship, the incumbent pursued the even tenor of his way, with never a candidate, either Democratic or Republican, successfully challenging his "right" to continuous tenure of the county bench. This did not just happen, without any effort on the part of the judge to keep himself in the county's most important office. It takes astute political vision to remain the champ, even in a county office.

It was back in the "drunken whoopee" era that the judge was first brought face to face with what political railbirds and office holders generally refer to as "political expediency."

When many violations of the then newly enacted liquor code were brought to Judge Persons' court for trial he did not hear the cases. He called a McHenry county jurist, Judge David T. Smiley to preside. Was there a change of venue?

Why did not Judge Persons hear these cases? Was he ill, or did he have other pressing business? If ill, he could have continued the hearings. He's the boss. And as to other business—well, the county judge is presumed to have no other business except the business of the court entrusted to him by Lake county citizens who elected him. (Names of defendants appear in the court records.)

Now, referring to the campaign statement in a paragraph above—"He served the people of Lake county conscientiously," how does the judge reconcile this little piece of "cross roads" business with his conscience?

Juvenile Delinquency

Again referring to the Judge's campaign utterances—(fatherly interest in delinquent children)—how does he explain the fact that during the last five years he has committed 35 youth offenders to the St. Charles "school of crime" when Lake County taxpayers pay for the maintenance of the Lake County Detention Home, the better place for handling a large number of the cases of first offenders? And why is it that 13 Lake County boys were committed there in the year 1941 without first exhausting the facilities for taking care of them locally?

Recently a reader wrote the News: "The fault for the sordid conditions at St. Charles may first be dumped into the laps of the judges. There is no segregation there—the toughest hoodlums from the city mingle with the little fellows who quite often are only first offenders and who may yet be saved providing they are not allowed to stay there more than over night."

It is well known that Judge Persons is a self-avowed authority on juvenile delinquency. Has he not made scores of addresses on the subject before the various uplift groups among his constituents in Lake county? It's a great subject—this "juvenile delinquency." Far too serious to be used as a political campaign football.

How does the judge square his con-

(This is the second of a series of articles dealing with the qualifications and careers of those who will seek nominations in the primary elections, on April 14, 1942.

There is no greater American privilege than the right to hold office, and the rendering of public service through the efficient and honest performance of the duties pertinent to an elective office. . . . Some candidates are eminently qualified for the offices they seek, and have, too, a genuine desire to serve. Some who have made politics a career and have regarded public office merely as a means of livelihood, may or may not have qualifications fitting them for the offices they hold, or want to hold. Others, by their official acts, or other conduct, have very definitely forfeited their right to hold public office. In any case voters should be given the facts so that they may vote for the best interests of government.)

Duties of the COUNTY JUDGE

The county judge is the judge of the county court. The county court deals with local administrative problems, and it has exclusive jurisdiction in cases involving the care of the insane, insolvent debtors' proceedings, and assignments for the benefit of creditors. It also has jurisdiction in disputed elections, and the assessment and collection of taxes. It has concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit court in appeals from justices of the peace, in drainage matters, and eminent domain cases.

Because of the unusual clause in the constitution conferring upon the county court, "such other jurisdiction as may be provided for by general law," the county court has a wider and more varied jurisdiction than any other of our courts of record.

The county judge also may hear civil cases where the amount in controversy does not exceed two thousand dollars, and he also conducts trials of persons charged with misdemeanors. (A misdemeanor is a law infraction where the punishment is not imprisonment in the penitentiary or death.) This brings the county judge into the criminal sphere of judicial supervision.

Probate Jurisdiction

In counties of less than 85,000 inhabitants, the county court has original jurisdiction in all matters relating to the settlement of estates of deceased persons; the appointment of guardians of minors, and conservators of the insane and feeble-minded, and the settlement of their accounts, and in all matters relating to apprentices.

County judges are elected every fourth year at the general election on Tuesday after the first Monday in November, of the "off year," or non-presidential election date.

Under the "new practices act," which became effective Jan. 1, 1934, there are no stated terms of either the county courts or the probate courts. They are open continuously, except that they may adjourn from time to time at their discretion.

Because of the varied jurisdiction of the county court, which affects the people in so many different aspects the judge of that court is one of the most important officers to be selected by the electorate.

The salary of the County Judge is $6,000 a year.

science with youth, many of whom he has condemned to finish their education for crime at St. Charles?

The Judge and Court Business

Lake County lawyers have told the News that the docket of the Circuit Court is clogged a great many times, which they say is due in part to lack of cooperation on the part of Judge Persons in the handling of scores of minor cases which could properly be disposed of in the County Court, with its jurisdiction in civil matters up to $2000.00. The judge may have reasons for not cooperating in the disposition of these cases. For one thing, it relieves him of work, and in some instances it might even save him from political embarrassment at the next election.

The Judge and Dependency Cases

The legislature in its last session adopted an Act to provide aid to dependent children, placing the administration of the Act under the Department of Public Welfare, and providing supervision and support, in proper cases, to dependent children upon application for aid, without the necessity of a proceeding in the County Court. J. O. Austin is Commissioned as Navy Lieutenant

High School Gives Leave of Absence While He Serves U. S.

Commissioned as a First Lieutenant in the United States Navy by Secretary Frank Knox early this week, Principal J. O. Austin of the Antioch Township High school left today for Pensacola, Florida, where he will be inducted into the service of the Naval Air Training station.

Early in December just following the Pearl Harbor disaster, Principal Austin offered his services to the Navy department, took the physical examination and placed his qualifications on file in the belief that he could aid in the defense of his country. And well he can—he holds degrees from the University of Illinois where he majored in mathematics, a valuable qualification in naval affairs; and also has had 18 years' successful experience in administration work. He has been principal of the Antioch High school for three years, and his guidance of the local school has been eminently satisfactory to students, members of the board of education and to the general public.

Granted Leave for Duration

He leaves here under a leave of absence for the duration of the war, which is the plan generally followed where teachers volunteer or are called into military service.

Assistant Principal E. W. Edwards, who has likewise been a faculty member of the local school for three years, will carry on as acting principal, according to action taken by the board of education at its meeting last night. Another meeting of the board is to be held Saturday when members expect to make permanent arrangements regarding the principalship.

Lieut. and Mrs. Austin and son left today for Camp and Norris City, Ill., for a brief visit with relatives there before he proceeds to Pensacola to report for duty Monday.

HISTORIC BUSHING HOME AT LIBERTY CORNERS DAMAGED

Fire Causes Havoc to Extent of $1200 in Farm House

The Salem, Wilmet and Antioch fire departments battled to bring under control a fire that damaged the Arthur Bushing home at Liberty Corners to the extent of $1200, Saturday evening.

Bushing and his wife were attending a motion picture in Antioch at the time the fire was discovered. Lyle Rasch, who is employed on the place, and his wife and child were at home, and the alarm was turned in by them.

An "over-heated" chimney was believed to have been the probable cause of the blaze.

Homeesteaded in 1842

Interesting pioneer history surrounds the farm that is the site of the 13 room house nearly destroyed by the fire. The 60-acre tract was home-steaded in 1842 by Isaac Brown, great, great grandfather of Mrs. Bushing. He paid the government $1.25 per acre.

In 1897 natural gas was discovered on the farm and this is still used for heating water on the premises.

Henry Brown, son of Isaac, the pioneer, bought 80 acres in the early 60's near Camp Lake "for five dollars and a shotgun," according to the only records now available.

Friday morning the Antioch firemen were called to the home of Coach C. A. Wolfinbarger, where dust in one of the air shafts of the heating system had caught fire and was filling the house with smoke. Damages were minor. The building is owned by Dr. R. D. Williams.

Boy Scouts Parents' Meeting is Planned

Boy Scout committees of Troops 91 and 92 of Antioch held a dinner meeting last Thursday evening in the Antioch Cafe, with Atty. Arne W. Makela and Mr. Peabody of Highland Park as guest speakers.

Plans were made for a Mothers' and Fathers' meeting to be held in about two weeks for the parents of Boy Scouts, parents of prospective Scouts and all others interested.

A play on Scouting will be presented by a group from Highland Park at this meeting.

DISCOVERING WHY PEOPLE DRINK BEVERAGE ALCOHOL

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 43:34; Psalm 104:14, 15; Proverbs 31:4-7; Ecclesiastes 2:1-3, 10, 11; Isaiah 55:12; 1 Corinthians 10:6, 7.

GOLDEN TEXT—Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise.—Proverbs 20:1.

The alcohol problem receives attention in four lessons of each year. This is the first one for 1942 and brings before us a number of scriptures not often used, in order to suggest the drinker's reasons for drinking. Other matters appear, but we shall limit ourselves to presenting these reasons, together with the Christian answer to each one.

Why do men drink?

I. To Be Sociable (Gen. 43:34).

At the banquet prepared by Joseph the allowance for Benjamin was greatly increased, and they "drank and were merry." How often that has been the plea which has led into drinking and into drunkenness. The "social glass" has often led to the drunkard's grave.

Well, surely God wants us to be sociable. Yes, He does, and the perfect provision for man's social nature is found in Christian fellowship.

II. To Be Happy (Ps. 104:14, 15).

Wine is supposed to bring happiness, and we may admit that it does bring a temporary lift which some call happiness. But who is satisfied with happiness? It depends entirely on what "happens." If the wrong thing happens we are unhappy. We need a deep abiding joy, and only a right relationship to God can give that.

III. To Evade Responsibility (Prov. 31:4, 5).

When life's burdens become too much for him the weakling seeks relief and evades his responsibilities in the deadening power of alcohol. But that doesn't solve the problem. It is still there when sobriety returns, and usually more serious than ever. What can a man do? The answer is, turn to God. He gives wisdom, grace and strength.

IV. To Forget Sorrow (Prov. 31:6).

"Drown your sorrows" is the deceptive promise of liquor; but they stand right there beside man, and when his poor befuddled head begins to clear they present themselves more persistently than ever. What's the answer? The God of all comfort is ready to bear man's sorrows or to give him grace to bear them and to lead him out into a place of peace and victory.

V. To Forget Poverty (Prov. 31:7).

Heavy is the affliction of poverty in a world of plenty. Sometimes it is the result of carelessness or of sin, but often it is the lot of those who are innocently caught in its grip. Men have tried to forget, to "drown" even this problem in drink, and have only made their poverty worse and more unbearable.

VI. To Find Satisfaction (Ecc. 2:1-3, 10, 11).

The book of Ecclesiastes gives the account of a man "under the sun," that is, apart from God's guidance and blessing, seeking to satisfy the cravings of his heart in many ways. All of them prove vain, including the effort to find it in wine and in pleasure.

Frustrated souls often seek release through intoxicants. They gain a measure of liberty and a sense of masterful power, but it is all as delusive as the dreams of grandeur of the insane. It is even worse, for it is a false condition, deliberately created and soon lost, together with lost character and decency of life. The morning after brings only the deepened despair of greater dissatisfaction.

VII. To Stimulate Hope (Isa. 56:12).

A certain fearful-looking forward to the time of judgment tends to dampen the drinker's enthusiasm. So he drinks more to reawaken in his heart the "hope" that tomorrow will not bring reckoning, but will be another "good" day. The world has no real hope, in fact, the word itself has lost its true meaning and indicates only a sort of wishful thinking. Is there any real hope? Oh, yes, and the Christian has it, hope that is a confident expectation of the fulfillment of God's every promise. That kind of hope takes care of tomorrow—and all the tomorrows.

VIII. To Encourage Play (1 Cor. 10:6, 7).

Paul warns against the folly of the "eat, drink, and be merry" philosophy. That road ends in disaster.

Does not God want us to play? Indeed He does. He gave us the instinct for recreation. We need pleasant relaxation, and He has provided for us all the beauties of nature, all the pleasures of wholesome play, and all in the finest of fellowship with His people and with Himself. Thus we find real recreation—not just fun that leaves us empty and dissatisfied.

U. S. Prepared For Part in War

In Better Condition Than in 1917 to Co-Ordinate With Allies.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The United States is in far better condition today to speedily co-ordinate her war effort with those of her anti-Axis allies than it was in 1917.

The tremendous task will benefit by preparations already made.

At the outset of America's last war effort, much time was lost in the confused dispatching of missions on subjects which this time have been dealt with well in advance.

It was six months after the 1917 war declaration that the United States participated in Allied conferences. And it was not until November 23, 1917, that Robert Lansing, then secretary of state, sent a circular telegram to American diplomatic representatives abroad to "establish close and confidential relations with Allied representatives."

Supply Is Developed.

But today, "close and confidential" relations with Great Britain, China and Russia already have been established and in many other ways time has been saved which should be of the utmost importance.

Already, discussion is heard of formation of a supreme war council involving statesmen and other representatives from the United States, Britain, Russia and China. In the last war, the Allies council had no American representative until December 23, 1917, or nearly nine months after the United States had entered the war.

American observers already have been to practically all the war fronts and others have witnessed air raid defenses of the democratic powers. Supply lines for American goods have been developed to all centers of hostilities, in contrast to the hit-or-miss technique of the last war when the problem was complicated by private financing and shipping.

Many Policies Defined.

The early days of World War I found the United States struggling with problems of alien property, alien funds, diplomatic property and accounts, shipping, allocation of food and supplies and scores of other questions which jammed the machinery of government.

Now the policies on most of those questions already are defined and many of them are in operation.

Communications have improved greatly since 1917 and the great mass of necessary detailed work will be cared for more speedily.

Japan, an ally in 1917, sent one of the first missions to visit this country during that struggle. There also were Belgian, Rumanian, many British missions as well as many American missions to Europe.

In a November 7, 1917, conference at Rapallo, seven months after America's war declaration, Britain, France and Italy formed the supreme war council. The United States joined more than two months later.

Today's war is a far different war—both in the amount of territory involved and the intensity with which it is being fought.

60,000,000 Americans Are Without Birth Records

CHICAGO.—Efforts are being made by many states to provide satisfactory, yet quick methods by which native-born Americans may obtain birth certificates.

Approximately 60,000,000 Americans lack proof of their birth, according to the Council of State Governments. Of increased importance as a result of rulings that defense industry employers hire only native-born Americans for certain types of work, records are being sought by many persons who lack such proof.

One reason for the mass failure to have certificates, the council said, is that before 1900 only two states—Maine and New Hampshire—provided by law for official registration of births.

The navy and commerce department has proposed that states without provisions accept certain information as proof of birth. Such information includes affidavits by relatives and supporting statements by doctors or hospital authorities.

This will be the "buffalo trust," a venture for the preservation of the noble animals which once swarmed the American plains, but which are now all but extinct. A tract of 500 acres just west of Kenosha will be the home of the trust herd. Major Gordon W. Lillie, famous as "Pawnee Bill," is fostering the project. we advertise nowadays

The appliances we are now advertising are limited to those we have on hand, or those that are made available without interference with war production. They have all been selected because their normal operation in the home comes at a time of day when most present power requirements are more than adequate to meet present power requirements for both war production and civilian use.

Furthermore, we believe that their use in most cases will conserve energy and tend to release home labor for helpful wartime activities.

C. K. Anderson Entertains

200 at Melbourne, Florida, on Seventy-Fifth Birthday

(From the Melbourne [Fla.] Times
Feb. 27)

Wednesday was an important day in the life of C. K. Anderson, wealthy winter resident. It was his 75th birthday and he celebrated it in a way both he and all his friends will never forget. Mr. Anderson is president of the Melbourne Country club so he chose that as a setting for a day of festivities the like of which Melbourne had never seen before. They began at noon and lasted for the remainder of the day and night.

Hundreds of his friends were his guests. Golf tournaments in the afternoon were climaxed with an elaborate banquet at night followed by dancing.

From as far away as California, Michigan, and Illinois came life-long friends to help Mr. Anderson celebrate. Members of his family, business associates, doctors, lawyers, bankers, all made long trips to Melbourne to be with their old friend as he passed the 75th milestone. Hundreds more sent telegrams and letters of congratulations and good wishes.

It was a brilliant banquet when 200 guests were royally entertained by the man who came to the United States from Sweden as a young boy on a sail boat which required seven weeks to make the trip and later became an industrial leader in the Midwest.

When "Andy" Anderson entertains he really entertains. No expense is spared to make the event complete.

There were gifts for the ladies and gifts for the gentlemen. Round hand-painted bottles of English-Bordeaux wine were presented to the ladies while Redpoint pencils bearing the words, "Andy's Seventy-fifth Birthday," and cigarette lighters were given to the men.

Beautiful trophies were awarded winners in the golf tournament which was a part of the day's program. Announcement was made of substantial cash gifts from Mr. Anderson to eight Melbourne churches, to numerous churches in Illinois and to the Melbourne School Band which had serenaded him in the late afternoon.

William F. Harrah, business associate of Mr. Anderson for more than 45 years was master of ceremonies and at his introduction many of the prominent friends of the host spoke briefly. "This country has done more for foreigners than all the other nations of the world combined," said the young-looking 75-year-old "Terrible Swede" in a short address as the banquet came to an end.

"This has been a land of great opportunity and if a man doesn't spend more than he makes he can accumulate and become prosperous. That's the policy I have followed all my life. I have loved my friends and respected my enemies," said the man who fought his way to the top.

Gifts Announced
Substantial gifts were made by Mr. Anderson on his 75th birthday to the following institutions:

Hamilton Methodist Church, New Carlisle, Ind.; Methodist Church, New Carlisle, Ind.; Community Church, New Carlisle, Ind.; Cemetery Perpetual Care Association, New Carlisle, Ind.; Swedish Lutheran Church, La Porte, Ind.; Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, Oak Park, Ill.; St. Peter's Catholic Church, Antioch, Ill.; St. Ignatius Episcopal Church, Antioch, Ill.; Methodist Church, Antioch, Ill.; Christian Science Church, Antioch, Ill.; Antioch Public Library, Antioch, Ill.; Antioch Hill-side cemetery, Antioch, Ill.; Episcopal Church, Melbourne; First Methodist Church, Melbourne; Catholic Church, Melbourne; First Congregational Church, Melbourne; Baptist Church, Melbourne; Methodist Church (colored), Melbourne; Baptist Church (colored), Melbourne.

(The guest list contained hundreds of names of prominent persons from many states and included from this locality Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Runyard, Waukegan and Antioch, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Rosenthal and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Voss, Antioch, and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Johnson, Lake Villa.

PRAYER AND THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Contributed by the Baha'i Group
"O my God! We ask Thee by Thy name, whereby Thou hast subdued the heavens and the earth, to shield the lamp of religion by the glass of Thy power, so the winds of denial from those who are heedless of the mysteries of Thy sovereign Name may pass it by. O Lord, increase its light by the oil of Thy wisdom. Verily, Thou hast supreme wisdom. Verily, Thou hast supreme power over all in Thy earth and heaven."
—Baha'u'llah.

"Religion," writes Baha'u'llah, founder of the Baha'i Faith, "is the greatest of all means for the establishment of order in the world and for the peaceful contentment of all that dwell therein. The weakening of the pillars of religion hath strengthened the hands of the ignorant and made them bold and arrogant. Verily I say, whatsoever hath lowered the lofty station of religion hath increased the waywardness of the wicked, and the result cannot be but anarchy. Religion is a radiant light and an impregnable stronghold for the protection and welfare of the peoples of the world, for the fear of God impelleth man to hold fast to that which is good, and shun all evil. Should the lamp of religion be obscured, chaos and confusion will ensue, and the lights of fairness, of justice, or tranquility and peace cease to shine. Know thou, that they who are truly wise have likened the world unto the human temple. As the body of man needeth a garment to clothe it, so the body of mankind must needs be adorned with the mantle of justice and wisdom. Its robe is, the Revelation vouchsafed unto it by God."

PEOPLE WILL TALK
You may get through the world but 'twill be very slow.
If you listen to all that is said as you go.
You'll be worried and fretted and kept in a stew.
For invidious tongues must have something to do.
And people will talk.

If quiet and modest you'll have it presumed
That the part you are playing is only assumed.
You're a wolf in sheep's clothing, or else you're a fool.
But don't get excited, keep perfectly cool.
For people will talk.

And then if you show the least boldness of heart,
Or a slight inclination to take your own part,
They'll call you an upstart, conceited and vain.
But go straight ahead, don't stop to explain.
For people will talk.

If threadbare your dress or old fashioned your hat,
Someone will surely take notice of that.
And hint rather strong that you can't pay your way.
But pay no attention whatever they say.
For people will talk.

If your dress is the fashion don't think to escape.
They'll criticize then in a different shape.
You're ahead of your meals or your tailor's unpaid.
But make no reply, there's naught to be made.
For people will talk.

Now the best way to do is to do as you please.
For your mind, if you have one, will then be at ease.
Of course you will meet with all sorts of abuse.
But don't think to stop them, it ain't any use.
For people will talk.

Nothing is more character-revealing than malicious, uninformed babble. The church is a very fruitful source of material upon which one may talk. Its weaknesses and failures may be magnified. Its form of worship and leadership may be criticized. Its strength and worth may call forth praise. And some will humbly acknowledge its spiritual helpfulness. But none can share its blessing or speak with any degree of accuracy or intelligence, unless they attend its services and share its responsibilities. That we may know and love each other better, and thereby serve our

In reminiscences of their wedding day, Mrs. Anderson recalled that her wedding gown was of black silk, but with it she wore the traditional long veil of white.

Report on $625 Bond Purchase is Given at Meeting

The Antioch Woman's club is purchasing $625 (maturity value) worth of defense bonds. It was revealed during the business session at a meeting Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. H. Osmond, Orchard street.

The club also voted to purchase a dozen folding chairs, and individual trays to be used in serving refreshments at meetings.

Thirty-three members, and three guests were present to enjoy the review of "Mission to Moscow," Ambassadors Joseph Davies' book on Russia, given by Mrs. Anna P. Bratton.

She gave a resume of the manner in which Davies' "Red Russia" resources were being developed, and of his various observations concerning the country.

Judge Persons...

and permits the granting of aid in worthy cases, without the necessity of a Court proceeding or establishment of a Court record.

Among politicians who wish to perpetuate themselves in office, the passing out of assistance in any form has ever been regarded as a natural. The new law, if permitted to become wholly operative in Lake County, will deprive Judge Persons of the political leverage it has meant to him in past years.

Undeniably the handling of welfare matters in the past has built up a prestige for Judge Persons among dependents and families of dependents. He has been recognized as the one man in Lake county who

HERE'S THE LAW

Chapter 34, Section 67.2. County Department of Public Welfare in counties of less than 500,000.

"There is hereby created and established in each county of the State having a population of less than 500,000 inhabitants a County Department of Public Welfare. Such County Department of Public Welfare shall consist of a Superintendent of Public Welfare and an administrative staff."

Chap. 34, Sec. 67.3. Powers and Duties of County Superintendent of Public Welfare.

(a) To have charge of and develop plans for the administration of old age assistance.

(b) To have charge of and develop plans for the administration of "An Act to provide aid to dependent children, to make appropriations therefor and to repeal an Act herein named," enacted by the Sixty-second General Assembly.

(c) To investigate and study problems of assistance, corrections and general welfare within the county.

(d) To co-operate with the State Department of Public Welfare in the operation of welfare plans and policies within the county.

passes out such aid. Now, according to the law, the judge may be relieved of much of the work connected with public welfare. Has the judge co-operated fully with the newly created department, or has he been reluctant to abandon the political advantages his one-man control of these dependency cases has meant to him during past years?

Persons and Tax Matters

The judge's "hands off policy" regarding situations laden with "political dynamite" is shown by his flat refusal to even investigate an alleged irregularity in the publication of delinquent tax lists in 1938. At least four of the township delinquent lists were alleged to have appeared in newspapers not qualified as legal organs. The matter was brought to the attention of the judge informally on Sept. 23, 1938, and although sufficient evidence was available to create doubt regarding the legality of the publications, Judge Persons washed his hands of the matter, stating, "there is nothing I can do about it." On the following Monday, Sept. 26, Judge Persons rendered a blanket judgment for the sale of hundreds of pieces of real estate which were indicated to have had no legal publication. The deal involved other Lake county office holders who likewise "could do nothing about it." The whole transaction was mighty unlike a rose.

Imagine that! A county judge who is in complete charge of the legal phase of tax matters, charged by law and bound by oath to uphold the orderly processes of law closing his eyes to an evident irregularity involving hundreds of land-owners. Has justice in Lake county become a farce?

Judge Persons' unparalleled ability to sell himself (reluctantly, of course) to Lake county voters term after term has closed the door of opportunity to other able, earnest and well qualified men who could have served well on the county bench. Financially, Judge Persons is what, with some degree of propriety, may be called "well fixed." He could well retire. In so doing he would not by any means be setting a precedent, as many jurists with fewer years of service to their credit have retired from both the lower and higher courts, notably Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, of the United States Supreme court, who retired only last year after 15 years' service. But make no mistake about it—all indications are that Judge Persons will never give up his "one-man monopoly" of the county bench until he is defeated at the polls.

It is the considered opinion, and the recommendation of this writer that Judge Persons should not be returned to the office he has held for eight consecutive terms.

GROWER'S SKILL OFTEN SETS PRICES PAID FOR BROILERS

What price broilers? Instead of reading market quotations, the broiler producer would do well to look to himself for the answer to that all-important question. For the man who raises broilers can do a lot to dictate his own price. If he just makes up his mind to do so, according to J. H. Burrell, Purina Mills' Broiler Specialist.

"Poultry meat that goes to market is usually graded fancy, average, or poor grade, according to quality," says Burrell by way of explanation. "Every producer knows that the price he gets is determined largely by the class into which his broilers go."

"Fancy grade broilers are recognized by their fine finish, meaty thighs, full breasts, more edible meat, and naturally bring a better price and more profit per pound. The average or poor grades are just as easily spotted by poor finish, thin breasts, less edible meat, and tough and stringy bodies. In such birds there is little or no margin of profit for the producer."

Favorable Balance

"From these comparisons, the broiler raiser will understand what I mean when I say that the price his broilers bring depends so much upon him, since he is responsible for the condition of his birds when they go to the market."

The Observer

S. J. Morton, Jr., writes from the Canal Zone, where he is serving with the coast artillery.

"Dear Editor of the Antioch News—I am very glad to get the home town paper, because a fellow wonders just what is happening back home. Well, to get down to brass tacks, I would like to have some correspondence with some of the girls back there. You see, I really never got to meet anybody back there, because I was already in the army when my folks moved up there from Chicago."

Morton, who is 23 years old, is 5 feet 9 1/2 inches in height with light curly hair and eyes described as "light green," would like to hear from girls around 19 to 21 years of age. His address is Btry. 11 83 C. A. (AA) Fort Kobbe, Panama Canal Zone.

The News is glad to pass on this request from one of the "home town soldiers."

We're lifting these from the Santa Fe Magazine, which we hope won't mind—

"Who are those people doing all the cheering?" asked the recruit as the soldiers marched to the train.

"Those," replied the veteran, "are the people who are not going."

The traveling salesman returning from a particularly unsuccessful trip told his sales manager, "If Hitler still wants more territory, he can have mine."

Drill sergeant to married recruit: "Button your coat!"

Recruit (absently): "Yes, dear."

Talk about a goldfish having no privacy—those belonging to Ruth (Mrs. Clair) Elliott and now enjoying a temporary haven at the Reeves drug store—sure don't.

We see where somebody wrote an editorial rejoicing because a lot of boys only 17 and 18 years old are being taken into the armed forces. Personally, we have a sneaking hunch that they never thought that the reason Hitler has so many kids in the German army is because he didn't have much else to put in—and he probably needed the older men for officers—those he thought he could trust. Anahow, we'd be willing to betcha this war would end faster if they'd draft a lot of the older guys with wives, families, and good jobs, as they'd really be in a hurry to get things cleared up, and get back! They'd also be more careful not to get killed off when there wasn't any percentage in it; they'd do some of their second guessing first, having had a little experience along life's highways, and taken a few bumps already; they'd hate it; they'd be ornery and hard to discipline, and they'd keep the officers up on their toes and on the job; and they'd be critical enough and influential enough so they'd be a pretty good balance wheel and have an excellent effect all around. The warriors of old didn't just shove the kids into the battles and stay at home themselves. They led, and the kids went along.

Bert Ray phoned in this a. m. to tell us about one of the first signs of spring—a flock of about 300 wild geese that flew over Antioch.

Henry E. Pape, Jr., writes from Camp Crowder, Mo., where he is with the 37th signal battalion, coast artillery. "Received your paper, and it is very much appreciated."

Grand Jury Considers Zion Firesetter Case

Sibrand Bloom, Zion, who has confessed to setting the fire that destroyed Lucy's Feed store on Sheridan road south of Zion, has been indicted by the grand jury on charges of arson and burglary.

The case of Sibrand Bloom, Zion, who has confessed to setting the fire that destroyed Lucy's Feed store on Sheridan road south of Zion, is among those being considered by the grand jury which convened this week.

Bloom's statement, according to James Stearns of Antioch, state deputy fire marshal, includes confessions to two fires and a burglary at the home of the Rev. Harold M. Kelley, a neighbor of Bloom's in Zion, on a fire at the Richards feed store on Twenty-second street, and one at Fulton's barn on Sheridan road and Thirty-third street.

In each case, he stated, he had no memory of having set the fire, but recollections of having been in the vicinity led him to believe that he might have done so.

Members of the regular panel for the jury include John Chope, Wadsworth; Cleve Vos, Richard Allner, Antioch; Edward Bartlett, Lake Villa; Irving O. Hook, Grayslake; Ted Adams, Fox Lake. William Bennett, Antioch; James B. Lahey, Wadsworth, and Joseph Strohl, Lake Villa, are members of the supplemental group.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Java Defense Gains New Strength As Dutch Troops Get Reinforcements; Tanker Losses Indicate U-Boat Drive Against Eastern Petroleum Supplies

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

JAVA:

Defense Impressive

Following the fall of Singapore, wailing women, many of them carrying babies, had arrived on rescue ships in Java, worried over the fate of their men who had been left behind. But all of them were highly impressed with the spirit and the defenses of Batavia.

There was every evidence that Java, whether it got sufficient reinforcements or not, would be adequately defended by the forces now on the island.

The Dutch not only were massing all their own man power, their ships and planes, but it was plain that they had some American reinforcements, largely believed in this country to be constituted of the very vital anti-aircraft guns and men to man them.

The fight that still had raged around Bali was a good curtain-raiser for what the Japs could expect when they moved in on Java itself, with its 40,000,000 population, and the concentrated strength of everything the Dutch and the other United Nations had which had been salvaged from other fronts.

Churchill had said that the total Japanese land strength in the Far East was estimated at 26 divisions. There were many who believed that it would take half that number to conquer Java alone, provided it was properly defended, and many believed the Japs could not spare that many troops nor transport them, to Java.

Some military authorities believed the Japs would not even try, but would content themselves with bombing military installations, and with surrounding the island with naval forces, thus rendering it incapable of taking part in East Indian defense, while concentrating most of the Jap forces on an invasion of Australia.

The news of the day had not so far borne out this contention, however, for the Japanese landings on Sumatra to the west and Bali to the east had been in considerable force.

WASHINGTON:

Cleaning Up

The national capital, which was under fire ever since the Douglas-Chaney boondoggling fight started with the OGD as a central point, had started the job of self-cleaning with President Roosevelt "taking a leaf out of his own notebook" and finding that 16 agencies were engaged in housing activities alone.

The senate and house had not been idle in the self-cleaning matter, either, for they had repealed the pension bill, which already had been signed by the President.

The President had not signed it as such, but it had been a rider on another bill, and thus had become effective.

But the national outcry had been terrific, and the congressional repeal had followed with but few congressmen of either house willing to put themselves on the spot as voting pensions for themselves—after the outcry.

Representative Reed of New York was perhaps most frank, for while most congressmen had said they had voted for the previous measure without considering it much, if at all, said: "I was not called away by a telephone call. I was not out eating a sandwich—I was not talking with a constituent at the time—I was in favor of the bill."

Rep. Reed

He was not, however, recorded as voting against repeal.

The OGD still was the center of attack. Senator Byrd of Virginia having said that his investigation of jobs paying over $2,500 in the OGD included "actors, baseball players, football coaches, track men, tennis players, newspaper and magazine writers, social workers, army and navy officers, doctors, engineers, nurses, ex-public officials, lawyers and others in every walk of life."

Many had quit after Mrs. Roosevelt's resignation, but it was evident that the rest of them were under fire, with the senate on the firing line.

BATAAN:

Bomber Campaign

Perhaps a rather grisly humor had been shown in the dispatch from Bataan that the men of General MacArthur's command were planning to take up a collection from their own pay to have a bomber sent them.

It would have been a "one-day story" if the newsmen had not taken it up at President Roosevelt's conference. The President said:

"If anybody will tell me how, I'll see that they are sent."

STORM:

And Torpedoes

Not only the German torpedoes, but a terrific Atlantic storm had taken a toll of American shipping.

The fact that in 30-odd vessels torpedoed in our coastwise shipping, more than half had been tankers showed that the U-boats had their orders to prey on our coastal petroleum supply.

This attack, however, it was conceded, could do no worse than accentuate the oil shortage on the eastern seaboard, as the installations of oil refineries and tank farms had suffered no attacks, nor had the big petroleum producing fields.

But the storm, which cast two American naval vessels up on the rocky coast of Newfoundland took 189 lives, and provided the worst naval disaster of the kind in history.

The destroyer Truxton and the naval cargo auxiliary Pollux were lost, and by a quirk of fate they happened to go around where 450-foot cliffs jutted up straight from the ocean.

The vessels, pounded on rocks, almost immediately disintegrated, and their crews had to scramble ashore.

LIEUT. COMM. RALPH HICKOX

as best they might. They landed on a rocky coast where half their number were battered and drowned without a chance. Approximately 175 men were rescued from the two wrecked ships.

BURMA:

All-India Command

The closing of Rangoon, though much better defended and bitterly contested than had been Singapore, had given the Japanese a long stride toward the demobilization of the Burma road.

Though the Chinese were believed already to have developed another line of communication, partially if not completely ruining this objective for the Japs, it was proof of the fact that something drastic would have to be done about the reinforcement of the British defense of India, or more territory would fall into the Japanese hands.

The Chinese were holding the northern sector, but the British, having been driven back from the Bala river fortifications, had to fall back on Rangoon, and the lack of destroying all military goods in the city which could not be moved was the signal for the closing of the port.

It was a tough 48 hours for the American military mission there, for it was their duty to see that the final shipments of thousands of tons of American lease-lend goods started on its full journey up the Burma road to the Chinese before the Japs got in.

Some of this, it had been reported, faced destruction, and among what could not be moved were hundreds of American-made trucks which had not been assembled after shipping.

The British had made their last stand at the Sitana river, and there, in good positions, they covered the final removal of lease-lend goods and destruction of British materiel.

MISCELLANY:

Washington: WPB said that textile mills which do not produce goods for the armed services will not be able to obtain machinery by the middle of 1942.

Cleveland: A labor-management dispute, according to reports, was crippling the output of a concern wholly engaged in making airplane and bomb parts.

Washington: Skyrocketing military demands for wool, caused by the imminent job of clothing several million more soldiers were said to be calling for sweeping reductions in the amount of wool available for civilian clothing.

Baltimore: The OPA said it would soon fix rent ceilings in this defense area, probably heralding similar action throughout large sections of the country.

Buenos Aires: Argentina, in a significant action, has informed Italy that she no longer can represent her in the Western hemisphere.

Good Neighbors

Increased dividends from the United States' good neighbor policy became increasingly evident when a new Brazilian aircraft engine factory signed an agreement with a U. S. aeronautical corporation to turn out plane engines. Here Carlos Martins, (standing) Brazilian ambassador to the U. S., and Col. Antonio G. Muniz, director of the new factory, sign the production agreement.

RUSSIA:

Guerrillas in News

One by-product of the Russian victories over the Germans on the east front had been the contacting by the Red armies of the partisans or guerrillas, who had been buried but active back of the Nazi lines.

More and more of these intrepid bands had been uncovered, and the news reporters were beginning to get to them and to send to the world their stories of heroism and of destruction.

Also a by-product of the Russian advance had been mounting stories of brutality meted out by the Nazis to Russian civilians, most of them based, whether true or not, on the activities of these same guerrillas. Thousands of civilians, eyewitness reporters had noted, had been slain by the Nazis, while other thousands had died of freezing or starvation, herded in forced marches often after their clothing had been pillaged.

The guerrilla bands were able, by hiding in woods and mountains, to prey upon German communications, which by very necessity had been chained to the few Russian roads.

The guerrillas were ambushing Germans, destroying not only trucks but tanks as well, and slaughtering such of them as fell into their hands.

One leader of such a band told a newsman that he and his fellows had blown up two large German trucks and that three members of the trucks' crews had been shot to death by their own superior officer for permitting the trucks to be destroyed.

The Russian guerrillas had ranged in age from 19 to 35.

LABOR:

Not So Quiet

Labor troubles, which had been almost nonexistent after Pearl Harbor had hurled the nation into war, began cropping up somewhat over the nation, though the federal government was not delaying to have them settled as rapidly and forcefully as possible.

Congress, too, was having its labor difficulties. A proposed wartime suspension of the 40-hour week caused heated debate with charges of "labor despotism" being hurled by Representative Cox of Georgia. Later, in answer, Sidney Hillman, labor chief of the war production board, said enactment of the proposal would "result in confusion and demoralization."

Notable among the difficulties had been one in St. Louis, where power company employees had threatened a strike which would have crippled a whole defense industrial area.

An odd strike occurred at San Pedro, where the Bethlehem Steel company was building $81,000,000 worth of destroyers for the navy.

The men did not walk out, but they worked eight hours and then quit, going back to work again at the usual time, refusing to work 16-hour shifts as they said the company demanded.

There also had been dispatches from the West coast that numbers of employees had refused to work on Washington's birthday, though specifically requested to. The day came on Sunday, but many factories reported large numbers of their workers stayed home on Monday.

The unions had demanded double pay for the holiday and employers had refused this demand. Hence the big holiday lay off.

AUSSIES:

Digging In

Reports from Australia that the Aussies were digging in from one end of the eastern coast to the other seemed to make it dubious that any extensive aid for Java would be sent by Australia.

However, according to correspondents, the spirits of the Australians as they faced increasing evidence that they have a defense job of their own to consider, were uniformly good.

Camera to Record Errors of Pilot

Gadget Developed for Use By Army Air Corps.

DAYTON, OHIO. — An all-seeing camera, attached to the sights of the machine guns of a fighting plane to record the progress of aerial "dog-fights" has been developed by the army air corps.

The new apparatus, called a gun-sight aiming point camera, recently underwent successful tests at the Air Corps experimental laboratory, Wright Field.

Fixed behind the gun sights, it will record action high above the clouds when one pursuit plane jockeys into position "on the tail" of another and sends an imaginary burst of bullets into the quarry.

The use of gun cameras dates back to the first World War, but the ones now in use, like the latest aerial cannon, are far superior to the first equipment. Earlier gun cameras, mounted on machine gun rests, necessitated removal of part of a plane's armament.

Today the camera may be carried into actual combat and works simultaneously with the guns to provide a vivid record of the fray.

A recently developed "overrun" device keeps the camera running after the pilot takes his finger off the trigger switch of his guns. He will be able to follow an enemy plane down to its crash when it goes out of control and the camera lens will record the sequence.

Army officials expect this device to help in verifying the destruction of enemy airplanes.

The new GSAP camera is electrically driven, equipped with a 50-foot film magazine, using standard black and white 16 mm. motion picture film. The pilot can vary the speed with a reset knob and compensate for atmospheric conditions with aperture controls for bright, hazy and dull weather.

Bare Historic Landmarks

As Lake Water Dwindles

NORTHAMPTON, N. Y.—Buried for years in man-made Sacandaga lake, some of northern New York's eighteenth century historic landmarks are coming to view again as the water level continues to fall.

A rainfall deficiency, coupled with additional need for Sacandaga's waters by defense industries southward on the Hudson river, has brought the reservoir to its lowest level since the Sacandaga river was impounded in 1930.

The falling waters already have brought to light again the foundations of Fish House hotel, once the rustic lodge of Sir William Johnson, his majesty's great superintendent of Indian affairs.

In a neighboring cove, Arthur Pound, state historian, noted fireplace brick from the Godfrey Shew house, burned in the raid of 1778 by a Lieutenant Ross and his raiders from Canada, assisted by newly recruited Tories.

The male Shews, Mr. Pound recalled, were taken to Canada. Mrs. Shew, her two daughters and a young son, were permitted to go to Johnstown after the raiders burned their home.

Sent to Boston as exchange prisoners more than a year later, the Shew men, ill from small pox, marched back to Northampton to find their home in ruins. Then father and sons erected a new home nearby, which is still standing on Sacandaga trail.

Civil War Veteran, Aged

96, Goes to Work Daily

LOWELL, MASS.—Dudley L. Page claims to be America's oldest active business man.

Although he'll be 97 next birthday, he reports for work every day at 9:30 a. m., walking from his home to the downtown restaurant that he has made a Lowell institution.

A Union veteran who served four years during the Civil War, Page eagerly follows newspaper accounts of the present conflict.

Page's chief ambition is to live to celebrate his 100th anniversary. He already has arranged with newsmen to interview him on that occasion.

Joyriding Bumps Into

Official Restrictions

OLYMPIA, WASH.—The state of Washington has embarked on an automobile "pool" plan to reduce joyriding in state cars at public expense during off-business hours.

Several departments have had their cars placed in the pool and officials are being required to sign out for them and give information on what trips they plan to make. Gov. Arthur B. Langlie has launched the plan on a modest scale to see if it can be made to work, thus cutting down on the state's gasoline and automobile bill.

Intern Pensioned U. S.

MANAGUA, NICARAGUA.—Kintaro Konde, a Japanese subject and a former American soldier who has been drawing a pension from the United States government, has been placed in a concentration camp at Puerto Cabezas. Nevertheless, Konde said, "If I were young enough I would fight against Japan."

Girl Scouts Stress Nutrition As Vital to National Defense

By MARGARET C. LEWIS, M.D.
Health and Safety Adviser of the Girl Scouts

Nearly three-quarters of a million girls, organized into thousands of troops of Girl Scouts throughout the country, are actively engaged in supporting the National Defense program. Through their immediate families, their activities affect directly almost four million people, while through their friends and acquaintances, they may well influence well over thirty million Americans. This defense is based, not on the adoption of new fields of endeavor created by the present emergency, but rather through patting to work, wherever the need presents, those activities which have always been a part of the Girl Scout program. Home Making, Child Care, Community Service, self-dependence, and initiative in the out-of-doors, all play a real part in the girls' contribution toward national defense.

In the Health and Safety field Girl Scouts have always aided in safety and health promotion. Today such aid is more important than ever in the past, for national health is the very foundation of national preparedness. Perhaps the chief factor in national health is adequate nutrition. There can be no doubt that a large percentage of selected food defective by selective service examiners' were so because of inadequate diets.

More than ever before, the nation requires stamina and morale. The stress of modern living is not limited to grown-ups and members of the armed forces. Adolescents sense the implications of the world crisis as much as do their parents, and adolescents, too, may become victims of the nutritional disorders prevailing among adults.

The fact is that millions of our citizens are not obtaining from their foods nutrients in varieties and quantities essential to well being. In a large degree, these disorders are due to vitamin and mineral deficiencies. Fats, carbohydrates, and proteins have long been accepted as a part of the daily diet, but it is in the equally important field of vitamins and minerals that we are extending our education today.

How to supply and supplement these in order to assure the best in energy and protection has become an interesting field of study in nutrition for our Girl Scouts. In addition, science recognizes six vitamins—Vitamins A, B₁, B₂, C, and D and nicotinamide (the pellagra preventive) as essential factors in the human diet.

But vitamins alone are inadequate; minerals are also needed. The nutritional biochemist recognizes this acknowledged fact, and this recognition is reflected in newly-developed vitamin and mineral formulas which have become available in recent months as dietary supplements for all the family.

In guiding more than a half million girls from homes in every section of the nation, from families of all income levels and all creeds, we give attention to the strides which science is making. Recent progress in nutritional research promises to contribute toward a healthier and therefore happier nation. It is for this reason that those of us who work with young people recognize and respond to recent scientific achievement in the field of nutrition.

In a number of states and cities, health departments and local Girl Scout troops are cooperating; girls are attending classes in nutrition and doing everything possible to spread the vitally important information thus acquired.

In line with the growing need for public service, we have already set up Girl Scout Service Bureaus to meet community needs throughout the country. National health for defense is one of our chief, immediate concerns. But always we have in mind that our ultimate purpose is to help to build a saner, friendlier world.

Girls Will Share Honors in Athletic Exhibition Mar. 27

(By Rosalie Sibley)

One of the main events of the Gym Exhibition, March 27, will be the girls' tumbling team.

More than 50 girls tried out for the team. Out of these, 16 were chosen. They are Ella Fay, Doris Edwards, Betty Scheibe, Carol Waters, Delores Stack, Ruth Winfield, Erya Edelman, Ellyn Wilton, Clare Sieben, Louise Elms, Grace King, Idal Maier, Clara Wurster, Joan Miller, Trutehen Yopp.

These girls, under the direction of Miss Helen Olson, have been working very hard to master their stunts. Some of the things they will demonstrate are head stands, hand stands, stomach balance, shoulder rest, and other special stunts.

The program will show what goes on in the physical education classes at the high school. The girls, under the direction of Miss Olson, and the boys, under that of C. A. Wolinberger, will join in staging some of the demonstrations.

New Faculty Member Enters on Duties

(By Rose Marie Zellhofer)

Albert A. Kroll of Libertyville has replaced Milton Weiss, who enlisted in the United States Army, as teacher of social studies and assistant coach at Antioch Township High School. Kroll was graduated from Libertyville High School where he participated in such sports as football, basketball, and baseball, and belonged to the "Community Club," an athletic organization.

At Lake Forest College he was a 3-letter man in football and coached the intra-mural athletics. Kroll did graduate work at Northwestern University and taught one year in the Zion grade school and a year and a half in Zion-Denton High School. He coached the basketball team at the grade school.

His hobbies are collecting phonograph records, hunting and magazines.

While, as assistant athletic director at Antioch, served as line coach for the football team and organized and coached the wrestling team. He volunteered for service and has been accepted by the U. S. Army. Leave of absence has been granted him by the school board. He is spending this week at the home of his parents in South Bend, Ind.

Members of the senior class dedicated an assembly to Coach Weiss Friday and presented him a soldier's kit.

Antioch Quintet Loses to Dundee 47-25 in Dist. Tournament

Antioch's loss to the Dundee team at the tournament game held at Dundee on Wednesday, March 4, by a margin of some 22 points—Dundee 47—Antioch 25, was in part attributed by Coach Wolinberger to extreme nervousness, as the boys were not experienced in tournament play. While this game ended the present basketball season, what with Barnstable, Fields, and various other up-and-coming underclassmen still to be heard from, Antioch may look forward to bright prospects on the basketball court next year.

Heating System Changes In Progress at School

(By Martha Winch)

The improvements which are going to be made in the heating system at A. T. H. S. will be under the direction of Mr. Regnell. He plans to put heating ducts in the gymnasium, as well as a new ceiling, which will, it is believed, make it easier to heat the room.

Unit ventilators will be put in all the old classrooms—these combine the uses of heat and ventilation. The library will be given a new floor and the girls' lavatories, unit ventilators. Unit ventilators will also be put at the entrances of the auditorium.

No time limit has been set on the construction.

'Remember Pearl Harbor,' War Cry

Takes Its Place Alongside Slogan of Other Wars.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"Remember Pearl Harbor!"

Born in Japan's treacherous, peace-shattering attack on the great American naval base in Hawaii, the phrase overnight became the battle cry and the byword of the nation.

As such, it ranges itself beside such other famous expressions in American history as "Taxation without representation is tyranny," "Damn the torpedoes—full speed ahead," "Don't give up the ship," "Lafayette, we are here," and those two others dealing with poignant memories: "Remember the Alamo," "Remember the Battle of San Jacinto."

"Remember the Alamo" was voiced by Gen. Sam Houston preceding the Battle of San Jacinto, in 1836, when Texas gained its independence from Mexico.

Curiously, the World war seems to have had, for Americans at least, no one battle cry to ring discordantly on the ears of the foe. The tribute to Lafayette, who aided this nation in the Revolution, was paid by Col. C. E. Stanton before the Frenchman's grave.

"Damn the torpedoes—full speed ahead" came from Admiral David Farragut in the Battle of Mobile in 1864.

"Don't give up the ship" was an order from Capt. James Lawrence in the War of 1812. "Keep the guns going," he said. "Fight her until she strikes or sinks." "Don't give up the ship."

The famous Revolutionary war taxation slogan came prior to the nation's fight for independence.

Countless others were originated during the wars in which the nation took part.

The latest, however, looks good for the duration—and then some. "Remember Pearl Harbor!"

Big Air Rings to Dispel Smoke in Factory Areas

SMELT in Factory Areas

PITTSBURGH, PA.—"Smokeless rings" projected from "guns" may soon be used to dispel smoke in industrial areas, Dr. Phillips Thomas, research engineer for the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing company, believes.

Telling of experiments with the device, Dr. Thomas described how artificially created "whirlwinds" may be used to blow factory smoke high into the atmosphere and thus provide clean air in industrial cities.

By means of a metal drum, which, when tapped with a hammer, creates rings of air, Dr. Thomas has blown out candles and rung gongs 100 feet away. A special air-ring projector, developed by Westinghouse, can, when struck with a heavy hammer, deliver an air ring powerful enough to throw a man off balance at 20 feet.

Dr. Thomas reported that in the Westinghouse research laboratories scientists are studying the possibility of utilizing the more powerful of these vortex rings to blow giant puffs of factory smoke into the air.

"Such a method of smoke elimination would outmode ugly smoke stacks and perhaps make powerplants and mills welcome near industrial areas as clean, streamlined buildings," he said.

Captain Tells How 'M'ne' Came Up and Sank Ship

WASHINGTON.—A Norwegian

captain, testifying at an official investigation that his vessel had been stopped and sunk by a British submarine off the coast of Norway, was interrupted by a German official.

"Nonsense!" shouted the German. "There are no British submarines off the Norwegian coast. You must have struck a mine."

"Very well, then," the captain replied, according to the report received here by the Norwegian News Service. "A mine came to the surface. It halted us, gave us ten minutes to get into lifeboats, and then ran amok into our ship, sinking it."

Farmer Finds Vein of Onyx Marble in Oklahoma

HOMESTEAD, OKLA.—C. H. Carey was strolling over his 200-acre farm in northwest Oklahoma when he discovered some pinkish white rock.

He found that with little effort he could chisel the rock into ash trays, lamp stands and fancy paper weights. He sent some of the rock to a chemist in Phillips university in Enid, Okla., and some to chemists at the University of Oklahoma in Norman.

Carey, a former member of the Oklahoma legislature, was told by chemists at both schools that he had discovered a fine grade of alabaster, often called onyx marble.
